The Main Lodge, overlooking beautiful Lac Beauvert

*The Jasper Jewel lies between
A fairyland and heaven's portals,
A living, lovely endless dream
For Mortals.*

IT was Bob Davis who penned these lines; Bob Davis of the New York "Sun;" friend of princes and potentates; of emperors and kings; seeker of beauty in the lives of men and in the things which nature has built within the four corners of the earth. And when, after a visit to Jasper National Park in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, he wrote these words, he placed upon Jasper a poetic seal of quality as enduring and as supreme as the hall-mark of "sterling" is to the silversmith's craft.

There may be spots as beautiful but there are none more beautiful than this, the largest national playground in the world, which embraces within its boundaries 5,000 square miles. Its mountains are so numerous they have never been counted. Hundreds of them are unclimbed, hundreds unnamed; and wherever one wishes to go, east, west, north or south, there is presented to the eye a scene of grandeur which defies the written word to describe or the mind to imagine. The changes which men have wrought are few and simple. It stands to-day as nature made it and as it shall be to the end of time.

Jasper National Park can be reached in only one way, by the Canadian National Railways. Within its borders, there is only one centre of population, the town of Jasper, where the traveller detrains to reach Jasper Park Lodge, the summer hotel of the Railway Company, three miles from the station. A paved road runs from the station to this summer resort whose beauty has, in the short space of six years, elevated it from an almost unknown quantity to be one of the most famous summer resorts in the world.

The Lounge in the Main Lodge

Nature built the playground; man built the hotel. But the desire of man—and admirably it has been achieved—was to create within this beauty spot of the Great Architect something which would harmonize with the beauties round about. From the forests that carpet valleys and the rocks that form the mighty peaks, they drew their materials of log and stone and built, on the shore of Lac Beauvert, a hotel that blends so perfectly with that which lies about it that it, too, seems to be a part of the design which Nature wrought.

About a central lodge radiate a number of bungalows. These vary in size—some accommodate a family of four, some have sixteen rooms. There is another type, known as the housekeeping cabin, which is entirely self-contained, with dining room, kitchen and servants' quarters. Every bedroom in every building is equipped with hot and cold running water, electric light and telephone, and most of the rooms have private baths attached. The majority of bungalows have their own sitting rooms, writing rooms and verandahs.

In the main lodge are located all of the public rooms of the hotel. Here are found the lounge, the ballroom, the dining room and the office. The lounge is large, tastefully decorated and in the centre of it is a two-faced stone fireplace where full length logs are burned. Three hundred people can dance comfortably or be seated at banquet in the ballroom and more than six hundred people can be accommodated at a sitting in the main dining room, and 70 people in the private dining room.

The same general scheme of design has been applied to the construction of the main lodge and the bungalows, towards the building of which skilled architects and engineers summoned all the ingenuity they could command. The logs are stained a natural brown, the stones a glistening white. The roofs are green to harmonize with the trees and gnarled and warped woods have been cleverly used for decorative effect in the interior of the main lodge and the verandah supports of the bungalows. All floors are hardwood.

Around about the lodge great mountains rise to the sky. Behind, wolf-gray, gaunt and knife-like at the crest, stands the Colin Range. To the right, a symphony of color whose reds and browns and blues challenge the tints of the sunset, Pyramid Mountain hurls its huge bulk high above the floor of the Athabasca Valley. Immediately in front, the friendly Whistlers, tree-covered almost to the top, fling themselves across one whole side of the valley to join Mount Edith Cavell whose silver crown glistens in regal splendour far above her subject peaks. This magnificent mountain, snow-capped year in and year out, raises its head more than eleven thousand feet above the sea and commands the valley from end to end. To the breast of this mountain, there is caught a great glacier, the Glacier of the Angels, so called because it seems to hover like the outspread wings of an angel in mid-air between the crest and the base. To the left rise Kerkeslin, snow-capped and terraced like a mountain in a Japanese print; Tekarra, whose fortress-like abutment is a landmark for thirty miles or more; and Signal from whose heights in the olden days the traders discovered the advance of voyageurs up and down the valley on their way to and from the sea.

In front of the lodge lies Lac Beauvert, whose waters on a cloudy day change color like an opal and in the sunshine imprison a million rainbows. At night, when the air is still, this lake makes for herself, from the lights of the lodge, a girdle of pearls and clasps to her bosom the silver-tipped heights of the hills.

The means for enjoying oneself at Jasper are many and varied. Directly in front of the lodge on the lake shore is an open-air, heated swimming pool with a wading end for children. A qualified swimming instructor is always on duty. Boating and canoeing may be enjoyed on the lake and championship tennis courts are located adjacent to the main lodge.

Within one hundred yards of the main lodge are located the club house and the first tee of the famous Jasper Park Lodge Golf Course which experts have pronounced to be the most perfect golf course in the world. Its 18 holes have a total length of 6,245 yards and there is a shot for every club in the bag.

Within the boundaries of the Park there exist about one hundred miles of first class motor roads. These radiate from the lodge which maintains a fleet of motor cars driven by carefully selected chauffeurs. One of these roads spirals from the floor of the Athabasca Valley to the foot of the Glacier of the Angels on Mount Edith Cavell. A second passes through Jasper town and upwards to

The Lounge, Point Cabin, looking toward the fire-place

Patricia and Pyramid Lakes, two liquid emeralds that nestle at the foot of Pyramid Mountain. A third swings upwards to Maligne Canyon, a great wound in the surface of the earth into which the Maligne River tumbles headlong to lose itself. This road continues along the base of the Colin Range to Medicine Lake and eventually will be extended to Maligne Lake, the largest glacial-fed body of water in the Rockies and one of the most beautiful sights upon which the human eye can ever hope to rest. The fourth follows the milky Athabaska River through the valley to Pocohontas and provides a paradise for the camerist as along the way deer, bear, mountain sheep and moose are to be seen close enough to be photographed.

Trail riding is another popular recreation. The mounts are trained mountain ponies, selected for their ability to tread the trails, ford streams, to pick their path around boulders and over deadfalls, rather than for their speed or their good looks.

The Motor Road, colorful Pyramid in the distance

The trails are in themselves a delight. They run their wanton way here and there; now in the valley beside the streams and lakes; now in the woods where shy creatures of the forest, startled into immobility, gaze from among the pines and the balsams upon the passing cavalcade; now on the wind-swept uplands where fields of gorgeous flowers bloom to the very foot of the snows. But wherever they go, up or down, they are vagrant by-ways of unending charm.

"Jasper is neither a place nor a name," says Irvin S. Cobb whose writings have delighted millions. "It is a gem which the Creator has taken from his diadem and willed to mortal man."

Tonquin Valley, from Vista Pass

Four-Day Saddle and Camping Trips

Of the almost bewildering array of wonderful places in Jasper National Park, Maligne Lake affords much that is interesting and striking to tourists who profess appreciation for such things.

SADDLE TRIP NO. 15: Maligne Chalet, commanding a full view of Maligne Lake, is situated on a low plateau at the outlet. Before the Chalet and extending in a south-easterly direction for seventeen miles, with a breadth varying from two hundred yards to two miles and possessing some fifty miles of shore line, lies the largest glacial fed lake in the Canadian Rockies.

Beginning with Mount Samson, the jagged peak ten thousand feet high facing the Chalet on the left, the altitude of the peaks forming the Maligne group, which includes Mounts Charlton, Unwin, Warren, Mary Vaux and Maligne, increases until, in Mount Brazeau, a height of twelve thousand two hundred and fifty feet is reached—one thousand feet higher than Mount Edith Cavell and approaching the height of Mount Robson itself.

The mountains rise precipitously from the lake and are heavily laden with snow and ice. At the southwest end of the lake, farthest from the Chalet, lies a considerable snowfield and leading in a southerly direction towards the Brazeau River district is a high, though broad snow-pass, along the western base of Mount Brazeau and affording an easy way of access to this very interesting neighborhood. The nature of mountains in the Maligne Lake district affords abundant opportunity for both ice and rock climbing and is within easy reach of the Chalet by motorboat, horseback or on foot and many comparatively easy climbs may be carried out by the amateur.

The mountains, meadow and flowers of the alplands lying to the west within easy reach from the Chalet, will prove of interest to botanist and naturalist alike. Sheep, goat, cariboo, moose and deer frequent these pastures. The Opal Hills facing the Chalet on the east, provide sheep and goat for the observation of the visitor, while the mountain sides overlooking the lake and particularly those about the southeast are used extensively by the mountain goat as a summer pasture.

Route

The first five miles of the trail lies eastward from Jasper Park Lodge down the Athabaska Valley to the Maligne River, then turning up the Maligne River, along the base of the Colin Range nine miles to Medicine Lake and three and one-half miles along the shore of Medicine Lake to Medicine Lake Chalet. From Medicine Lake Chalet stretches ten miles of good trail and easy grades along the east bank of the Maligne River to Maligne Chalet.

Visitors returning by the Shovel Pass route over the Maligne Range, on leaving the Maligne Chalet, proceed up the slope of the mountains to the west of the Chalet and crossing the Alpine meadows, go through Little Shovel Pass and Big Shovel Pass to spend the night at Shovel Pass Camp, completing the trip the succeeding day by following the trail down from the Maligne Range, by Signal Mountain, into the Athabaska Valley and return to the Lodge.

Camps

MEDICINE LAKE CHALET, elevation 4,500 feet, situated at the upper south end of Medicine Lake at the point where the river enters the lake, is a peeled log building containing dining-room, sitting-room and limited sleeping accommodation, supplemented by floored and walled tents containing heaters. Accommodation fifteen.

Side trips to Jacques Lake, good fishing.

MALIGNE CHALET, elevation 5,500 feet, situated on Maligne Lake at the outlet of the river, comprises a main building or Chalet with a dining-room and sitting-room and a limited number of bedrooms. This building is supplemented by a second building or sleeping lodge. Accommodation—twenty five.

Motor Cars and Horses

The motor equipment at Jasper Park Lodge comprises comfortable and luxurious seven-passenger cars and buses. The chauffeurs are an exceptionally fine type of men. Many are university students and are very careful drivers, selected following a rigorous test of their ability. They are versed in the geography and lore of the Park and add much to the pleasure of the drive by their interesting descriptive comments and explanations.

The horses are a good type of mountain horse and outfits are first class in every respect. The guides are fully qualified, experienced and thoroughly dependable men.

Boating

Paddling on Lac Beauvert is a favoured evening enjoyment. Boats and canoes are available for rent at 50 cents per hour.

Mail should be addressed care of Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper, Alta., and guests are requested to leave their forwarding address when leaving.

Picnic parties can arrange for basket lunches.

For the convenience of tourists from the United States, a Canadian Customs Officer is located at Jasper Park Lodge to facilitate the clearing of tourist baggage from United States points.

IMPORTANT—To avoid delay and inconvenience, it is recommended that trail and hiking outfit be carried in guests' personal baggage.

Altitudes

The Across Canada route of the Canadian National Railways, though flanked by the highest peaks in the Canadian Rockies including Mount Robson (12,972 feet), crosses the mountains at the lowest altitude and easiest gradient of all trans-continental lines. This is a factor of particular interest and importance to travellers unaccustomed to, or unable to stand, high altitudes.

Similarly, the altitude of Jasper in the wide sweeping valley of the Athabasca is but 3,470 feet above sea level, and visitors need rise but little above this altitude to enjoy many of the attractions of this mountain playground.
